

FORMER Nuala's singer Karen Egan plays a one-off gig in The Pembroke Hotel, Kilkenny on Friday. Karen offers a captivating cocktail of classics from the repertoire of artists such as Jacques Brel, Leonard Cohen, Tom Waits and Edith Piaf, together with her own original numbers based on relationships including 'Smoke Me' and 'Why did you Dump Me?' from her album 'Ever Ever'.

Karen presents an evening of charismatic characters filled with bold, brassy rhythm and attitude and plenty of comic timing, supported by a superb jazz band. In a show filled with melody and mischief, Karen promises a night, of passion, laughter and endless surprises. She is currently performing a number of sell-out gigs in Finland and Karen will travel from there for her first Kilkenny performance.

She has toured extensively around Ireland, the UK, West Indies and Tasmania receiving five-star reviews. With The Nuala's, Karen toured Ireland, Britain, Singapore and Australia performing at all the major festivals including sell out shows at The Edinburgh Fringe Festival.

Tickets including a complimentary drink of choice are €25 per person and available from The Pembroke Hotel, Patrick Street, Kilkenny on 056-7783500 or email info@pembrokekilkenny.com. Tickets can be collected from the box office by 7pm on the night, doors open at 8pm with the show beginning at 8.30pm.
